

Despite shaky economy, new restaurants opening their doors

At a time it seems many restaurants are closing their doors, it feels good to be able to write about more and more openings.

- Azurea, the signature restaurant at One Ocean Resort Hotel and Spa in Atlantic Beach, is now offering breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The menu created by executive chef Ted Peters follows the "think globally, eat locally" idea commonly known as Locavor in which local ingredients are heavily incorporated into the foods.

One Ocean (formerly the Sea Turtle Inn) also offers a casual fare restaurant, interactive cooking classes and veterinarian-approved pet menus.
